Student Body Elects New Major Officers

Betty Hiner was elected president of the Student Government Association yesterday, after a re-vote when no one of the three S.G.A. candidates received a majority of the votes in the Tuesday election.

Five of the incoming major officers were announced by the Electoral Board on Tuesday. These officers included Hiwana Cupp, chairman of the Honor Council; Marilyn Miller, president of the YWCA; and Louise Kindig, president of the Athletic Association. Kathryn Chauncey and Barbara Striker were announced as editors-in-chief of The Breeze and The Schoolma'am respectively.

Betty Hiner, as newly elected president of the S. G. A. is a native of Waynesboro, and has been a representative of the Student Council for two consecutive years. Taking over as chairman of the Honor Council, is Hiwana Cupp, who hails from Bridgewater. Hiwana has served as secretary of the council for the past year.

Assuming the presidency of the YWCA, Marilyn Miller, from Clifton Forge, has been a member of the "Y" cabinet for two years. A transfer student, Louis Kindig, the new president of the AA, comes from Waynesboro. Louise is a member of the Mercury Club, Racquet Club, AA Council, and holds membership on the extramural hockey and basketball squads. She has also acted as basketball sports leader on campus.

Being a member of The Breeze staff, Kathryn Chauncey of Alexandria, has served as circulation manager, reporter, member of the advertising staff, and as news editor of The Breeze. Barbara Striker, from Front Royal, will take over as editor of The Schoolma'am. Barbara has served as a member of the editorial staff and as assistant editor of that publication.

Voting hit an all-time high this year, with 914 boarding students and sixty day students participating in the election.

Business Staff Attends Meet

Members of the staff of the department of Business Education at Madison College will attend the annual spring meeting of the Virginia Business Education Association Friday, March 2, at the Hotel Roanoke, Roanoke, Virginia. Some 200 business educators from all parts of Virginia are expected to be in attendance.

Those from the business department at Madison attending are: Dr. S. J. Turille, Mrs. Mona L. Coffman, Miss Mary M. Brady, Miss Ruth Rucker, Mr. L. A. Sanders, and Miss Grace Herr. One of the featured speakers will be Mr. George Hossfield, New York City, ten times world's champion typist.

Second In Series Of Recitals Presents Doris Davis, Pianist

by Rena Bruce

Doris Davis will present the second in a series of senior recitals this Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Wilson Auditorium. A native of Cumberland, Maryland, Doris has majored in piano under the capable supervision of Miss Elizabeth Harris.

During her piano recital, Doris will be assisted by Elizabeth Woolfolk at the organ. "Liz" is a pupil of Professor George R. Hicks.

Besides being president of the Glee Club, Doris is also a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha, the German Dance Club, and the YWCA. Upon graduation she plans either to enter the Peabody Conservatory of Music or to teach music in the public schools.

Featured on the program will be the following: Chorale — "Come Sweet Death", by Bach; "Etude in D flat major", Liszt; "Sonata for Organ No. 1", Borowski; "Kammenoi-Ostrow", Rubinstein; "Sonata Op. 7", Grieg; and "Concerto in A minor Op. 16", by Grieg.

Class Corrects Mirror

Several corrections are needed in the Sophomore Class Mirror that appeared in last week's paper. These are Barbara Bell as most sophisticated, Betty McFarland the wittiest, and Audrey Clements as the friendliest.

Barter Company To Present Play; Pagan Plays Lead

PETER PAGAN

Tonight, in Wilson Auditorium at 8:00 p. m., the Barter Players will present "The Heiress", directed by Margaret Perry. Elizabeth Wilson, Helen Hayes' protegee, will be seen in the title role, while Peter Pagan will play the male lead.

"The Heiress" tells the story of an unloved girl who is deserted on the night of her planned elopement after she has told her suitor that she will be disinherited by her tyrannical father. Two years later, and after the father has died, the fortune-seeking man returns. The girl, now hard and disillusioned, must decide whether she should seek a bitter-sweet revenge against the young man, or take this only chance at forsaking her old maid role. Her decision makes a moving final curtain.

Miss Perry, the director, has found success in three capacities of the theater, as actress, director, and producer.

The play was inspired by one of Henry James' novels.

Honor Society Sponsors Assembly; Kepner Talks

Sponsoring Assembly March 7, Sigma Phi Lambda presents as their speaker Dr. William Allison Kepner.

Born in Mt. Alto, Pa., on July 9, 1875, Dr. Kepner as he grew older wished to become a doctor but this was prevented by a vow made by his parents. He, therefore, became a Biologist. In regard to this Dr. Kepner says, "In this work as a teacher, I have found greater happiness than I would have realized had I gone on with Dr. Brown as a physician." (Dr. Brown had offered to help him through medical school, on the condition that Dr. Kepner be his partner.)

Receiving his AB, AM, DSc, degrees from Franklin and Marshall College, he did graduate work at the

Governor Sets March 16 'James Madison Day'

Richmond, Va.—Governor John S. Battle has proclaimed March 16 "James Madison Day" and announced membership of a State Committee designated to participate in ceremonies at Madison College that day commemorating the 200th anniversary of Madison's birth.

Public exercises, to be attended by the Governor, members of the General Assembly, heads of various state departments and institutions, and other officials will be conducted at the Harrisonburg institution at 2 p. m. March 16 with Dean Raymond B. Pinchbeck of the University of Richmond as the principal speaker.

The State committee which will join in the program includes Lieutenant Governor L. Preston Collins of Marion, President of the Senate; Senators Benjamin T. Pitts of Fredericksburg and Raymond R. Guest of Warren County; Speaker of the House E. Blackburn Moore of Berryville and Delegates James O. Stickley of Harrisonburg, George S. Aldhizer, II, of Rockingham, Charles D. Price of Page and Vernon S. Shaffer of Shenandoah County; the Madison College committee of the State Board of Education consisting of Dr. Dowell J. Howard, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Senator Robert Y. Button of Culpeper, and Mrs. Rose MacDonald Skoggs of Berryville; and D. N. Davidson, director of instruction in Orange County and formerly Orange Division Superintendent of Schools, who is a well known Virginia authority on Madison history.

There will be a luncheon for special guests at Madison College at 12:45 p. m. on the day of the celebration, with the formal exercises following in Wilson Hall. Governor Battle will join with Blake T. Newton, President of the State Board of Education, in extending greetings, and both United States Senators, Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson, and Congressman Burr P. Harrison of the Seventh District, have been invited to participate in the program. Specially invited guests include the members of the General Assembly, various state and public officials and other citizens.

Arrangements for the program have been developed by a Madison College faculty committee headed by Percy H. Warren.

The 1950 General Assembly adopted a resolution calling public attention to the two-hundredth anniversary of

Cotillion Hop Has Easter As Theme

"Bunny Hope", theme of the annual dance presented by the Bluestone Cotillion Club, is scheduled to take place on March 10th from 8:30 p. m. until 12 midnight in Reed Gymnasium.

Margaret Poling, president of the dance club, will lead the figure escorted by Frank West, Jr. of South Boston and the Medical College of Virginia. They will be followed by the senior and graduating sophomore members of the organization and their escorts. Beverly Owens will head the receiving line and will be assisted by the officers of the Cotillion Club who are Margaret Poling, Jean Parker, Louise Simpkins, Mary Evelyn Barham, Katherine H. Neel, and Dottie Lou Updike.

"The Aristocrats" of Roanoke will provide the music in "true Aristocratic style" for the dance. An Easter theme will prevail throughout the decorations of which Barbara Striker, Beverly Owens, Joan Gilbert, and Connie Roach are in charge. The time for the figure has been set for 9:30 P. M.

Bids for the German Club members will be on sale in Sprinkle 7 on Monday, March 5th. Others may obtain bids in the P. O. Lobby where they will be sold, Tuesday, March 6th.

Let's Back Them

As we walked through Harrison Hall last week, we noticed many banners, posters, etc.; as we entered the various dorms on campus, more banners and posters caught our attention. What did these stand for? They represented thirteen outstanding girls on campus, six of whom were chosen to lead our major organizations on campus next year.

For a week there was that tense and hopeful feeling that this girl would win this and that girl would win that. Also, there was much discussion and controversy about who was best suited for a particular office, as is expected with any election.

Well, now the election is over. Did your candidates win? Maybe so—maybe not. However we can be assured that the newly elected officers are all capable. They would not have been nominated in the first place had they not been. So let's get into the spirit. Give our new officers all the cooperation and support we can, and make this 1951-1952 term the best year ever.

What Is Class Day?

What is the significance of Class Day? Each of the classes at Madison have a day they can call their own. Beginning with the seniors the classes, in order of seniority, set aside a Class Day when the sponsor the assembly speaker, present an entertaining program, and have a banquet for all the class members.

Class day is one of the chief ways of furthering class spirit. By working on the entertainment, making plans, and by dressing alike, each individual feels more that he is a part of the class. The first benefit of Class Day is the feeling of belonging.

Some of the best entertainment during the entire session is presented at Class Night Programs. Each class tries to outdo the others, thus making sure that their program is of top quality. The talent which is in a class may be exhibited at this time in a way which would be difficult to match. So the second benefit of class day is using of talent.

Class days are a lot of fun. Those who are to take part in the program meet for many hours beforehand to assure perfection. Their reward is the enjoyment of the student body. Class Day also provides entertainment.

Experience may be gained in doing what a person is most capable of. The banquet must be planned, scripts must be written, lighting and production must be taken care of. In all phases of planning, there is valuable experience for the future.

We may be proud of the tradition of Class Days on campus, for it is a good one.

Consideration Counts; We Can Help

Have we been to singspiration lately? Maybe we have but then again maybe we haven't. If so, were we one of the ones who came in late, talking, laughing, and just carrying on in general? Maybe we don't realize it but the people who were already there, on time, wanted to listen to whomever was singing on the stage but couldn't just because of our noise. It is sometimes impossible to get there on time but couldn't we wait in the back of the auditorium until that particular act was over and then come down the aisle quietly? It would be much more polite and also maybe the kids wouldn't mind so much sitting up there on the stage and performing, but who wants to sing or dance while everyone is talking and trying to find a place to sit? Another "gripe" going around campus is that the same people are on the program Saturday after Saturday. Someone has to do it and it seems that only a few have enough spunk.

There are many things that can be done to better this situation. One of these is trying to get the different classes to perform again. Everyone enjoyed these particular singspirations and in that way there was a bigger attendance and the acts weren't all the same.

Let's try to better the conduct and attendance in order to better the singspirations.

Don's Stop Now . . . They Need Support!!

A great majority of Madison students voted in the recent election for major officers. That shows that we were conscious of our duty to vote.

But now that we have elected these new officers, will we remember that we have still more responsibility?

No one of these newly chosen leaders can carry out her work successfully without our full cooperation. It is even more important to support them in their new work than it was to campaign or vote.

We can be sure that the candidates who did not win the position they wanted will support the new officers. Those people realize most acutely the big job that is being undertaken. But all of us should support them, not just a few.

Remember that we elected them; now it's our duty to get behind them and help make their tenure of office successful!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

There has been quite a bit of discussion and I believe quite a few editorials in THE BREEZE about "Seniors First". The students have been co-operative to a certain extent but I have noticed upon occasion that the majority of the teachers get up and leave as the seniors are marching out. For three and one-half years the seniors have worked hard for the honor of wearing those caps and gowns. It is bound to bring a warm glow to their hearts to see the whole student body standing in their honor, but to glance over and see the faculty rushing up the side aisle in order to get out of the auditorium before the rush starts must take away or chill some of that glow. Maybe the teachers are hungry but so is the whole student body and I'm sure the faculty will not starve during those five minutes. In the near future I hope this situation will be remedied.

Eleanor Dillon

According to the Hastings Collegian, one of the students at that school conducted a one-man survey to see if professors actually read all the term papers required in a course. He inserted a paragraph in some collateral notes stating that he didn't believe teachers read what pupils write, and asking the prof to underline the paragraph if he read it. The paper was returned—unmarked.

Quoting John Martin's book, "Introduction to the Dance"—It is the dancer's whole function to lead us into imitating his actions in order that we may experience his feelings. Our total reaction to a work of art depends upon the equipment we bring to bear upon it; our past experiences and present expectation. A person goes to a dance performance looking perhaps for story telling, musical rhythms, sex appeal—almost any expectation except motor response."

Greek Gossip

Among the guests at Carter House this past week-end were Margaret Dukes, Betty Gray Scott Faber, and Patsy Black Spilman. The Alpha Sigs also welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Dederick who were here to see their daughter, Jackie, and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Marshall who visited their daughter, Marion.

Miss Janet Calsee, national vice-president of Alpha Sigma Tau, will visit the sorority the week-end of March 10 while conducting a tour of national inspection.

Mrs. S. H. Hurdle, who was here visiting her daughter, Bobbie, spent the past week-end at Shenandoah Apartments. Other week-end guests of the Pi Kappa Sigmas were Kitty Joyce and Mary Jane Bradley, former members of the sorority.

Shirley Colbert and Ann Davis will accompany Mrs. Helen Terrill, national second vice-president of the sorority, to Radford College to pledge a local sorority there of Pi Kappa Sigma.

Tri Sigma's Jo Bowman visited Sprinkle House over the week-end. Jo is now a member of the faculty in Cradoek High School. Barbara Moses also a Tri Sigma, was a week-end guest in Sprinkle. She is a graduate of '49.

Sue Downs of Sigma Sigma Sigma who attended Madison and who is now working in New York City, was recently a visitor on the campus and of the girls at Sprinkle House.

On Friday evening, many of the Tri Sigmas met at the house for a "Hamburger fry." After supper, a social hour was held.

Mrs. Redding Thompson stopped by to see the Sigmas this past week-end. Mrs. Thompson is the former "Danny" Broome.

Marie House of Zeta Tau Alpha underwent an operation for appendicitis last Sunday. Mrs. House who was here to visit Marie was a recent guest of the Zetas in Alumnae Hall.

Congratulations!!

Greta Amy, an Alpha Sigma Tau, recently became engaged to James C. Beckner of the U. S. Navy.

Pi Kap's Sarah Jane Dill is now engaged to Wyatt B. Haney, Jr., a student at V. P. I. They plan to be married in June and will live in Blacksburg while Wyatt completes his work at Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Springman announce the engagement of their daughter, Lila, to Owen Lee Bradford of Lynchburg. Lila is a graduate of Madison College and she is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma and is now on the faculty of Patrick Henry School in Martinsville, West Virginia. The wedding will take place in March.

Mary Frances Shuler of Theta Sigma Upsilon has recently received a diamond from Paul Fogle of Frederick, Maryland. Mary Frances is a graduate of the class of '48.

Something To Chat About . . .

by Bess Bryant

Eager to hear the election results, students crowded the lobby of Alumnae Tuesday night even before the designated hour of nine o'clock. Their motive of wanting to be near their friends, either to congratulate or console them, was good. But some of the candidates, winners as well as losers, have expressed the opinion that they would have liked a few minutes to "pull ourselves together" before facing such a crowd. Congratulations or consolation would have been just as welcome, perhaps more so, a little later.

In view of that feeling, several persons have suggested that next year the student body might meet in Harrison lobby to hear the results, while the candidates are told in Alumnae. That way, the candidates would have time to gain emotional composure to some degree before facing the crowd, and, if they so desired, the losers need not be there at all when the well-wishers arrived.

Let's think about it.

History was made this week on the national scale with the ratification of the twenty-second amendment to the U. S. Constitution. Limiting all future presidents to two terms in the White House, this was the first amendment to be passed since the repeal of prohibition in 1933. Nevada was the thirty-sixth state to ratify, thus making the necessary three-fourths.

The sophomores were quiet entertaining on their class day, held Wednesday, and the magician whom they sponsored in assembly, Dr. Harlan Tarbell, was among the very few speakers who have ever stayed over for a class night program. That class must really have made a hit!

A Twentieth Century Fox motion picture dealing with both the good and bad side of the fraternity-sorority system is nearing completion, according to reliable sources.

It's called "Take Care of My Little Girl", and has already been branded as "Communist-inspired propaganda" by the chairman of the Interfraternity Research and Advisory Committee. That gentleman has threatened to impose a Greek-letter boycott on the picture.

The president of North Carolina University issued the following statement recently: "I have become increasingly concerned with the widespread confusion and uncertainty which have gripped the campus since the holidays. Certainly we live in times of tension born of crisis. That however must not detract seriously from our major job here, which is scholarship."

Don't forget to get your free chest x-ray Tuesday or Wednesday. The machine will be set up at the infirmary and everyone is expected to go by there. It'll only take a minute and we should be glad to get that service free.

Scoop! Two girls were locked in the Stratford costume room on the fourth floor of Wilson Thursday night. Lucky for them a meeting was being held in a nearby room on that seldom-used floor. Quite an experience though!

Math Club Takes Nine

Nine new members were initiated into the Mathematics Club at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

New members included: Irene Ashley, Billy Bond, Janet Corbin, Virginia Donovan, Janet Knicely, James Moomaw, Emily Ragsdale, Barbara Ann Vavrek, and Leon Franklin Zirkle.

Following the initiation, Elizabeth Peters gave a brief talk on the use of the slide rule which was clarified by a movie.

The Students' Voice

Do You Approve The Change?

by June Tunison

Do you like the way voting has been carried out this year and why?

Elizabeth Burgess — Junior — Yes, because some kids have classes all day and they don't have time to go by the P. O. Lobby to vote.

Barbara Spaulding — Senior — Yes, the system of voting and the limited campaign posters are a great improvement over last year. One thing that I believe would improve the campaign would be to have a longer assembly for the speeches so they don't run overtime.

Aleene Hester — Sophomore — Yes, you don't have to stand in line as much.

Zookie Riley — Sophomore — I like this year's system because of the attitude taken by all the candidates for this year's major offices. The way they've conducted their campaign has been and will continue to be a credit to our college and to the offices which they will represent.

Rebecca DeJarnette — Junior — Yes, it's more convenient for the girls.

Mary Ann Long — Sophomore — Yes, because this way almost everyone is voting. There is a lot less confusion at the polls and not one person has to do all the work.

Mary Jane Kelly — Sophomore — Yes, because it takes less time to vote and it's so convenient.

Burgess, Long and Kelly

Betty Lee Jenkins — Sophomore — Yes, it's an easier method and there's less confusion and besides I'm too lazy to go to the polls if they are in the P. O. Lobby.

Virginia Cushwa — Sophomore — Ditto on Betty Lee's. Also I find it more convenient to walk downstairs.

Elizabeth Woolfolk — Junior — I approve of it as it encourages more of the students to vote. The officers are for the benefit of all the students. Also, it's more democratic because of the similarity of this pattern of voting to the national government—that is, polls at various places.

MADISON DAY

Madison's birth occurring on March 16 this year and requesting the Governor to issue a proclamation designating that date as "James Madison Day." In his proclamation, Governor Battle said:

"James Madison, sometimes referred to as the 'Father of the Constitution', rendered conspicuous service to his country in the drafting of this immortal document, as fourth President of the United States, as a member of the Congress, and as a member of the Cabinet of President Jefferson. He was a strong advocate of educational opportunities for women, and Virginia appropriately has named its woman's college at Harrisonburg in his honor. This institution will observe the two hundredth anniversary of his birth with fitting ceremonies.

"Now, therefore, I, John S. Battle, Governor of Virginia, do hereby proclaim Friday, March 16, 1951, as James Madison Day, and invite the people of this Commonwealth to join in tribute to his statesmanship and leadership which contributed so greatly to the early development of our form of government and to the protection of our American liberties."

At the conclusion of the exercises, President G. Tyler Miller and Madison College will be hosts at an informal reception for the guests of the day in the College's Senior Hall.

Robert Waller Gives Recital At Broadway

Robert Waller of the Music Department was presented in an Organ Recital at the Broadway United Brethren Church through the courtesy of the Shockey Music Company, of Hagerstown, Maryland. The program included works by Bach, Saint-Saens, Sibelius, Franck, Brahms, and Karg-Elert. At the conclusion of the program Mr. Waller led the congregation in the singing of their favorite hymns and chorales accompanied by the organist of the church.

Dancers Display Talent In Rhythm

by Betty Lou Walters

Under the direction of Mrs. Luellen Hewitt, the Modern Dance Club presented its annual recital Saturday, February 24, at 8:00 p. m. in Wilson Auditorium.

The program opened with the "Dance of Greeting" which was characterized by rapid, flowing movement and which may have suggested to the spectator lightness and a sense of floating on air.

A definite contrast to the "Dance of Greeting" was "The Waxen Image," based upon music and ballet by Grian Carlo Menotti. As this seventeenth century tale of love and witchcraft proceeded through expressive bodily movement, you yourself felt a desire to move. Appropriate costume for characterization and of diversified color heightened the interest of this presentation.

Dances to three poems, Robert Frost's "Mending Wall," "Fire and Ice" and "The Road Not Taken" were included in the first half of the program.

The performance reopened with "Dilemma" in which two men members of the Modern Dance Club participated. This created in one a feeling of some situation to which there seemed no solution.

"Departmental" a poem by Robert Frost with its dancers garbed in costume styled in imitation of the straight form of the ant was an expression of the pathos of an ant funeral.

The recital was concluded with "Flicker Flashbacks." They consisted of "Chaplinesque," "Screen Sirens" and "Flaming Youth," the freshness of the last being gratified by an increased volume of applause.

Dancers were: Mildred Bluett, Martha Moore, Darrel Knauss, Connie Somerville, Pat Kilduff, Paige Fentress, Adelia Zablotski, Peggy Armsworthy, Jeanne Parker, Mary D. Dovel, Claudia Carmen, Lorraine Woodyard, Barbara Dowdy, Lois Heishman, Janet Shelor, Janet Bowman, Beverly Owens, Virginia Coolkoff, Edna Eanes, Jeanette Cocke, Art Keller, Kennison Lewis, Peggy Nelson, Nancy Cleves, Sally Cook, Coni O'Leary, Jeanne Menzel, Betsy Simpson, Roberta Wright, Shirley Kay, Jean Funkhouser, and Jane Pamplin.

Coreography: Jeanne Parker, Mary D. Dovel, Pat Kilduff, Martha Moore, Darrel Knauss and Mildred Bluett, Paige Fentress, Peggy Nelson, Sally Cook, Roberta Wright.

Accompanying the group was Betty Miles. During the "Dance of Greeting" assisted by Sue Weaver and Mildred Gunn.

Magic Words!!

by Mary Hootman

"Bubble, bubble, toil and trouble" sang the witches who produced Grace Matz, president of the sophomore class, to introduce the sophomore class night show, Land of the Magic Lamp.

The curtain opened to show a typical group of Madison girls enjoying themselves as usual one night, yet all is not as usual, for one of the girls aunts has given her a magic lamp. After "lights out", the geni of the lamp appears to grant their every wish until the next morning. The wish common to all was fun.

As the curtain falls on the first act, Irene Sawyers appears with a song and dance routine to the well-loved "April Showers". Sonia Dorson and Marie Manners sang a duet, accompanying themselves on the ukelele, also at this time, the four Morans, Gloria Pingley, Mary Lou Kins, Mickey Reiger and Betty MacFarland brought down the house by their antics.

The second act took place in the magic land, with entertainment presented by the leprechauns and pixies. Irene Sawyers, as chief of entertainment acted as mistress of ceremonies.

Entertainment consisted of a song by Raggedy Ann and Andy, tap dancing and soft shoe ballet, tumblers, a pixie chorus line, and other special numbers.

The show, Lamp of a Magic Land, was brought to a roaring close by two sailors singing, by popular demand, "So Long". They were joined by the entire cast as the curtain closed, ending another excellent production by Madisonites for the student body.

Virginia Museum Furnishes Paintings For Exhibit Here

Eighteen watercolor paintings by Virginia artists have been loaned for exhibit here by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond, Virginia. The paintings are now on exhibition in the Library Juvenile Room.

The exhibit contains a variety of paint handling techniques. Techniques included are: the wet technique by Marion Junkin entitled Wind, Sand, and Waves, modern and suggestive. As an opposite is Joseph Adam's realistic Chickens in the Snow. Some are painted in a wet and watery way as shown in Rockbridge Landscape by Pierre Daura, member of the faculty of Randolph-Macon College at Lynchburg. Others are painted in a dry manner seen in Still Life by Mary Fatum.

More paintings are by Mrs. Day of Mary Baldwin, Allen Jones, Mary Thomas, Prentis Taylor, Theresa Pollok, M. Secar Ropes, Jewett Campbell and others.

Students are urged to attend the exhibit.

Home Economists Assist Girls Here

Elizabeth Handy, a 1943 Madison graduate, has written a bulletin on School Lunch Management in relation to nutritive value, cost, and acceptance of foods served.

This bulletin is a result of a three years study made of 39 schools throughout the United States, and was prepared and sent out by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, Agricultural Research Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Miss R. Belle Burke, District Supervisor of Home Demonstration work, visited the college February 26th to interview seniors in Curriculum X, General Home Economics, who might be interested in home demonstration work.

Miss Helen Ward, Assistant State Supervisor of Home Economics in charge of the school lunch program, and her assistant, Miss Bruner, will visit the campus on Thursday, March 1 and 2, to talk to the class on the school lunch program and to make plans for the state lunch conference which is to be held at Madison College this summer.

Audience Sees Acts Of Magic.

On their class day, Wednesday, the sophomore class presented Dr. Harlan Tarbell, magician (extraordinary), as assembly speaker.

Dr. Tarbell performed many mystifying tricks for his audience. Among the tricks were making a cane disappear, and a raw egg disappear from a newspaper. Dr. Tarbell then showed the audience how he made an egg in the shell vanish, simply by removing the egg in his hand and holding it under his arm.

The audience continued to be amazed as Dr. Tarbell joined metal rings, rejoined rope after cutting it, and put paper back after tearing it into pieces.

Returning, Dr. Tarbell turned philosophical as he illustrated the value of unselfishness by a "Story from Confucius".

Climaxing the program, was "Mental Mysteries". At this time, Dr. Latimer and President Miller blindfolded Dr. Tarbell, after which he identified objects belonging to the students whom he had never seen before.

Grace Matz, president of the sophomore class introduced Juanita Cocke, who in turn introduced the rest of the class officers: Peggy Archibald, secretary; Gloria Pingley, treasurer; Betty MacFarland, reporter; Jane Moulse, sergeant at arms; Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Dingleline, sponsors of the class and their three children, the mascots.

Intramural Season Closes With Junior II As Champions

by Louise Kindig

Intramural basketball was climaxed with a tournament. Out of the four leagues, consisting of six teams each, came a winner from each league. Shenandoah reached that top position in league I. The Junior II team rated first in League II. There was a real scramble for first place in League III. Sheldon and Spotswood II met for a play off of a tie. Sheldon was victorious. The teams in League IV gave way to the mighty Junior III team.

These winners participated in an elimination tournament. The first game was a thriller! Did you see it? Junior II and Junior III clashed. Junior II was the winner with Junior III trailing only one point. The final score was 23-22. Nancy Birch was high scorer for the winner with 12 points and Ruth Sorenson stacked up 10 for the losers. Those teams really had fun—even the losers.

Then Sheldon edged over Shenandoah 21-18. This too was an excellent intramural game. Isabel Johnson collected 7 points for Sheldon while Shirley Colbert paced Shenandoah's score with 10 points.

The winners of these two teams played Wednesday at 9:00 p. m. Who would be the champion, Junior II or Sheldon?

The starting line-up for Junior II was M. Bluett, N. Birch, P. Savage, forwards and C. Sommerville, C. Cockrill, and A. Pond, guards. Sheldon started I. Johnson, S. Martin, B. Mothershead, forwards and R. Turner, M. Beasley, F. Courtney, guards. Substitutions for them were M. Henley and A. Dishman.

Junior II lead the way from the beginning. The score at the end of the first eight minutes of play was 7-2.

Sheldon pulled out of this slump and at the half the score was 15 all, but during the third quarter Junior was able to gain a margin of 3 points with a score of 24-21.

During the last quarter Junior II was able to hold Sheldon scoreless but managed to keep scoring for themself.

ves making the final score 33-21.

Congratulations Junior II. You are the champions for the 1951 intramural basketball season.

Also "congrats" to Sheldon who holds second place, and to Shenandoah and Junior III who were in the semi-finals.

All of the tournament games were refereed by Miss Ulrich and Miss Hartman. Can't complain cause they did a good job.

The cooperation and sportsmanship of each of the 24 teams, throughout the entire season is to be commended. You made our basketball season a good one.

F. GREEN TO SPEAK

of the U. N. This meeting is open to the public and all college students are urged to attend.

Mrs. Leland Shubert, who has made arrangements for Mr. Green to be in Harrisonburg, states that he is outstanding in the field of international relations. This is evidenced by the fact that he served as Documents Officer at the Dumbarton Oaks Conversations, was special assistant to the Secretary General of the San Francisco Conference, and was an adviser at the first session of U. N. General Assembly in London and the second session at Lake Success. Later he served as principal adviser of the U. S. delegation of the West Indian Conference.

Mr. Green holds a Ph.D. from Yale University. He is the author of the book, The British Empire Under Fire and has written foreign policy reports for the Department of State Bulletin.
